Who we are

Ascentria Disability Services focuses on each person's unique talents and gifts. We are committed to supporting opportunities for self-determined personal growth and achievement.

Steps to success

Self Determination – We enable and encourage people with disabilities to make well informed decisions. When people are equipped with the skills to make decisions, they are better able to advocate on their own behalf and lead more independent lives.

Building Relationships – We help support and promote relationship building in the community and the workplace. Every person needs friends and a sense of belonging. By combining our professional services with the natural supports available from co-workers, friends and neighbors, we assist each person to develop the unique networks which are necessary for community involvement.

Individualized Approach – We work with persons with disabilities, their families and professionals to design and implement an individualized and flexible plan of services which meets the goals of all. By employing a “whole life” approach, we are able to assist individuals as they build relationships, develop satisfying work, pursue leisure activities, and enjoy a rewarding home life.
